Performance Bond

The cleaning industry has, over the years, acquired a poor reputation for itself by failing to provide consistent standards. Procure Cleaning Management has addressed this issue with the introduction of our innovative Performance Bond.

Before they even pick up a duster our operatives have to place a performance bond of up to four times your monthly billing as a guarantee of consistent, high quality cleaning.

Why would they do this?

- Because they receive far better job satisfaction, as they are given responsibility for on site service.
- We also offer them a greater financial reward; they actually receive around 80% of the money you pay. A far greater incentive than the minimum wage normally paid.

This bond, which may be forfeited in the event of poor service, coupled with the higher earnings received by our operatives, removes the barriers to good service traditionally associated with contract cleaning.

This distinctive performance bond leads to an improved service and gives a significant advantage over traditional cleaning methods.

What does it mean for you?

- Consistent level of high quality cleaning
- Cost effective service
- The security of a professional management organisation
